The Desert/Mountain SELPA is committed to building the capacity of schools, families, and communities to encourage the academic and social success of every student by developing positive social cultures focused upon:

- School-wide systems of positive behavior support that are prevention-based
- The use of data for decision-making in both academics and behavior
- Support for parents and families, and ultimately communities
- Mental health support for students with more complex behavioral and social needs, delivered as part of a school-wide positive behavior intervention and support system.

The D/M SELPA Regional Institute will focus on the integration and implementation of these supports and will offer nationally renowned keynote speakers, roundtables featuring area model sites, and opportunities for collaboration in order for participants to learn from colleagues who currently implement school-wide systems.
